You know something the handbook doesn't.

You just finished a unit. Say what it was actually like: rating, workload out of 10, the grade you got, whether you would take it again. About ninety seconds, posted anonymously, your name never appears next to it.

Scan. Write one. Someone picking units in February gets to know what you know.

1 Scan. Sign up with your student email.

2 Rate it, score the workload, say if you would take it again.

3 Done in about ninety seconds. Your name never appears.
